Cyprus Institute opens office in Paris

The Cyprus Institute (www.cyi.ac.cy) recently announced the opening of its office in Paris, rendered possible through the generous support of the A. G. Leventis Foundation. Strategically located near the decision-making centres of the French capital and with easy access to the EU headquarters in Brussels, the Institute believes its new Avenue Foch office will enhance its international presence and partnerships.

The office will be directed by Dr Bruno Rostand, Associate Vice-President for International Affairs, and support the activities of the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Prof. Edouard Brézin. The Institute believes that the office will also provide a convenient venue in support of the activities of several international committees and expert groups.

The Cyprus Institute (CyI), is a non-profit science and technology research and educational institution.

Formally established in 2005 and increasingly gaining visibility both locally and internationally since then, it started its operations in earnest in September 2007.
